GOVERNOR TILDEN'S SPEECH. "Everybody knows that after the recent election the men who were elected by the Broadway, hears and feels only the throbbing people President and Vice-President of the United States were counted out, and the men who were not elected were counted in and life, and visit the great cotton and grainwho were not elected were counted in and seated. I disclaim any thought of personal wrong involved in this transaction. Not by any act or word or mine shall that be dwarfed or degraded into a personal grievance which is, in truth, the greatest wrong that has stained our national annals. To every man of the four and a quarter millions who are defrauded of the fruits of their elective franrejected the motion for the abolishment of capital punishment by a vote of fifty-five to and no less to every man of the minority will the ultimate consequences extend. Evils will the ultimate consequences extend. Evils in government grow by success and by impunity; they do not arrest their own progress; they can never be limited except by external forces. If the men in possession of the government can in one instance maintain thement can in selves in power against an adverse decision at an election, such an example will be condoned. But temptation exists always, and should be as comprehensive as the influence believe their statements. Caution and exat an election, such an example will be con-doned. But temptation exists always, and devices to give color of law and false pre-tenses on which to ground fraudulent decisions will not be wanting, and the wrong will grow into practice if once condoned. In the world's history changes in the succession of governments have usually been the result of fraud or force. It has been our faith and our Whether our elective system, in its sub-stance as well as its form, is to be maintained? This is the question of questions, and until it is finally settled there can be no politics founded on the inferior rights of the people. It involves the elective principle; it involves the whole system of a popular government. The people must signally condemn the great wrong which has been done to them; they must strip the example of everything that can attract imitators; they must refuse a prosperous immunity to crime.
This is not all. The people will not be able to trust authors or beneficiaries of wrong to devise remedies, but when those who condemn the wrong shall have power they must devise such measures which shall render a repetition of wrong forever mpossible. If my voice could reach throughout the country and be heard in its remotest hamlet, I would say, be of good cheer; the republic will live; the institutions of our fathers are not to expire in shame; the sovereignty of the people shall be rescued from this evil and be re-established; successful wrong never appears so triumphantly as on the very eve of its fall. Seven years ago a corrupt dynasty culminated in its power over the million of people who live in the city of New York. It had conquered or bribed or flattered, and won almost everybody into acquiesence. It appeared to be inevitable and invincible. A year or two later its members were in the penitentiaries or in exile. History abounds in similar examples. We must believe in the right and in the future. A great nation will not sever its political from its moral life.

At the conclusion of the governor's ad-lress, Governor Hendricks, being loudly called for, arose and said: GOVERNOR HENDRICKS'S SPEECH GENTLEMEN-I thank you for the honor on do me. I appreciate it in part as an expression of personal respect and confidence, but more as a declaration and assurance of your support of the principles and politics of which, in honorable association with your listinguished citizen, I was made a representative in the political contest of last year. I beg to assure you that I appreciate the honor you show me, the more highly because of your devotion to the political principles which experience has shown to be essential to the preservation of ana, as also of other States, contended for and demanded the restoration of local selfgovernment in all the States where it had been denied. They insisted upon a reduc-tion throughout the entire public service in yet by thousands, but by many millions annually. Therein was in-volved also a great reduction of a vast army of office-holders and the substitution of honest for dishonest administration. Contending for results so notably right and honorable, their cause was grand and their victory glorious. I will not disturb the pleasure of this occasion by undertaking to recount the means whereby the will and judgment of the people were defeated. The re suit as declared in Louisiana and in Florida and at Washington, is not and cannot be made satisfactory to the country, for the obvious reason that it was not true. A great and sincere people will rest their final judgment only upon truth, and never upon fraud successful through technicality, even should the President and his cabinet adopt a part or the whole of the politics and purposes for which the Democratic party has been contending for many years, and which became so distinctly defined last year; even that cannot remove or quiet public discon-tent. The Democrats will make no factious opposition nor will they seek to embarrass the facto government, but will sustain it in Hammond, superintendent of Indian affairs what is right, because it is right and for the welfare of the country, and not all because of sion appointed to locate the Spotted-Tail and Red-Cloud agencies, returned here to-day, having completed their mission. Criminal Remissness of the New York Police Force.

New York, June 12.—The remissness of the New York and until this is settled and made sure no giance-in any way not by the allurements of office, nor even by a strong appeal in the abandenment by the administration of vicious principles and dangerous policies, and the adoption of better doctrines and just measures. Democrats will not intrust their most cherished principles to the keeping of power police court, and all efforts to capture him failed. faith in the right of the majority to rule, in disclosed the fact thut he had taken Paris green the night before. To all appearances that free republican governments are once more allowed South Carolina and Louisiana. They rejoice in the good fruits that must follow; they know that peace and good order will prevail; that capital will be made secure out the south, and finally it became inevita-ble, because right and truth were too strong to be longer supplanted. In this the Democrats find a reason to stand more firmly with their party out of power with no patronage to dispense, and no money to distribute; but animated by the spirit of our institutions, and inspired by a sentiment of the right of local self-government inherent in the people. The Demogratic party, during the past ten years, has restored one State after another until now the State after another until now the tread of the soldier is heard in no legislative hall, but in every State the people are governed by laws of their own enacting and by officers of their own choosing.

My fellow-citizens, my home is in the west, and my associations have been with the people of that section. I am, personally, almos a stranger, yet I am received by you with open arms and cordial greetings. Need I say that I am gratified because of this fact? It has more than a personal significance. Does it not proclaim that we entertain no sectional political sentiment or sectional policies? Some may think we should have an eastern policy, and others that it should be western, but it seems to me that a New Yorker and an Indianan should greatness and wealth of New York, Boston and Philadelphia. The Past Week's Review-The Harvest Promises to be Late-The Yield Depends upon the Weather. LONDON, June 12 .- The Mark Lane Exress, in its review of the grain trade, says: "Judging from present appearances, our har-vest this year will be late, and whether the farmers will eventually obtain a fair return for their labor must entirely depend upon the weather during the next two months. supplies of English wheat, both at Mark Lane and in the provincial markets, have been very meager, and, with stocks in growers hands at such a low ebb, but little change in this respect can be looked for, business in the country being less directly affected by the depressing action. The continuance of large foreign supplies has been more active than at Mark Lane, and growers have succeeded in obtaining an advance on English wheat, which factors in town have failed to do with regard to foreign. The imports into London have been liberal, to-day's return showing an arrival of nearly sixty three thousand quarters. Statistics indicate that the requirements of this country between now and harvest will be about five million quarters, and as the supply in sight falls short of this quantity about one million quarters, the firmness of holders appears reasonable. Still, the recent high level of value to which the wheat rise in London has been taken advantage of by nearly all exporting countries, so that the required quantity will, in all probability, be forthcoming from Russia and India, if not from America. The future course of trade is no doubt very uncertain Judging by appearances there is no reason for anticipating a further decline, while, should politics assume a more threatening aspect, or the season prove unfavorable to the farmers, we may again see wheat go up to seventy shillings a quarter. The week's trade has been limited to the supply of the imme-diate requirements of millers, who have been able to satisfy their wants at two shillings per quarter less than in May. Maise sold slowly at about twenty-five shillings and sixpence per quarter for mixed. American exship and possible future. This a rticle give to much conjecture, both at home and abroad The brilliant weather which set in at the end of the week had a quieting effect upon the floating cargo trade, and, with the exception of Ghirkas, which command full prices, all descriptions of wheat declined from one to two shillings per quarter. There are now a few cargoes of Black sea wheat on the passage, nearly all the steamers carrying cargoes having already arrived at their destination. Maize and barley have receded fully a shilling per quarter, and with large arrivals, trade closed dull and on the decline."

Between five and six o'clock last evening a vell-dressed man, about six feet tall, and finely proportioned, went into the pawnshop of Benjamin Meyers, 317 Market street, and asked to be shown some revolvers. On receiving it back from Meyers, who supposed the man intended to purchase it, he suddenly placed the muzzle to his right temple, and before a movement could be made to stay the act he discharged the weapon, sending the ball clear through his head. From London. London, June 12.—There is at most an utter absence of news of interest, either from Asia, the Danube or Montenegro. VIENNA, June 12.—Telegrams from Asia eem to indicate that there is no longer that feeling of despondency which was so marked in late accounts from Turkish sources, and that a battle will be risked in the Arixes valley. The only question is whether the Russians will attack the Turks in the position they have chosen, or push forward the column coming from Olti toward Erzeroum, and thus turn the Turkish flank. The flying columns which Mukhtar Pasha has sent against the Russians at Olti show that the Turks are aware of this danger, but it remains to be seen whether they can obviate it, and spare a sufficient tice to check the eventual advance of the Russians over the pass of Kiretschli Dogh, leading direct from Olti to the head of the valley of the western Euphrates and Erzeroum. the United States legation at London, was pointed to again fill that position. Robert T. Clayton, heretofore vice-consul at Callao, is promoted to be commercial agent, and placed in charge of that consulate. No consulships worth more than two thou sand dollars per annum now remain vacant, all vacancies in higher grades having been filled by promotions, and it is the intention of the department to fill all, or nearly all, such vacancies which may hereafter occur by additional promotions from the lower grades The secretary of the navy has issued a circular calling the attention of officials of that branch of the public service to sections 853 and 854 of the revised statutes in regard to public advertisements, and also to the opinion of the attorney-general fixing the rate to be paid for such advertisements at forty cents per folio of one hundred words for first insertion and twenty cents per folio for each sub-sequent insertion. Also, to the letter of the second comptroller of the treasury, to the effect that, in the adjustment of accounts, all disbursing officers of that branch of the serpaper advertisements must be in conformity The attorney-general has called upon the accounting officers of the treasury for a copy of the accounts of Brigham Young, the Mor-mon leader, filed in the treasury some twenty years ago, when he was an Indian agent, appointed by the government. These accounts are called for at the request of Mr. Howard, United States attorney for the Territory of Utah, who will examine them carefully in ntimated that they furnish important testimony against Young, and upon them prosecution will be based for various illegal acts by him while acting as Indian agent. The President commissioned Tabnet C Wharton United States attorney for Kentucky; also the following postmasters: William H. Balmy, Red Bluff, Iowa; John M Prossman, Williamstown, Michigan; Alverado C. Frederick, Newton, Kansas, W. Hunting, Galana, Illinois, W. W. The cabinet council to-day lasted two hours, but beyond giving attention to certain appointments it was comparatively minus of importance, as there was no business of ex-traordinary interest before them. In order to correct the various published statements in reference to the amount of additional circulation recently issued to the na-tional banks in the city of New York, the comptroller of currency furnishes the follow-ing: The total amount of circulation issued to all the national banks of the country since the passage of the act of January 14, 1875, to date, is $27,311,825; of this amount, $3,400, 270 have been issued to banks in the city of New York. The circulation of the New York city banks will need to be increased $8,000, 000, or one-half of the present amount, in order to equal the amount outstanding at the 1875. There is no foundation whatever for the statement that a national bank in New York city has had issued to it $1,000,000 additional circulation three different times dur the past few weeks, as the whole amount is-sued to all the banks of the city of New York during the present year has been but slightly in excess of $2,000,000.

President Hayes, although, in former years, predisposed, like many other hard-money men, to adhere to the prevalent doctrine of finance writers in favor of a single gold standard, has materially changed his views during the progress of general discus-sions regarding the wisdom and propriety of the act of 1873, which demonstrated the old legal-tender silver dollar. He is now in favor of its remonetization, and of the readop tion of a double standard of gold and silver or, in other words, he favors a full return to the condition of things in relation to the subjects which existed previous to the legisla tion of 1873, being convinced that such a re-turn to the former system will greatly promote the resumption of specie payments, an object that he regards of the first importance. While, however, he considers the legislation of 1873 to have been a hasty and uncalled for interference with the legal-tender powers of a large portion of our circulating medium, he has not yet formed any determination to bring the subject officially to the attention of congress, though it is by no means improbable that he may hereafter conclude that some recommendations on his part of the nature above outlined will be advisable. The books of the treasury department show that the total amount of one and two-dollar notes in circulation is $51,404,571; amount of > BALTIMORE, June 12.—A private telegram says that an excursion train came in collision with the Winchestentrain near Point of Rocks. The train was from Baltimore, conveying passengers to take part in the memorial ceremonies and dedication of the monument in the Confederate cemetery, at Hagerstown, to-day. All the killed and wounded were from Frederick City or residents of Frederick county, and have been taken to Frederick City. Only one person, a lady, on the Winchester train was injured, and she not seriously. The cause of the ac-cident was a misunderstanding between the train-men.

Later dispatches state that Louis Schley died from injuries received before being removed. Colonel Charles Trail is reported fatally injured. One or two more may die, but the others will recover. A dispatch from Frederick says that the collision is attributable to the gross carelessness and negligence of the train-men. Messrs. Reifer, Trail, Falmer and Colonel Dennis were party of Alabama called upon Attorney-General Devens to-day, regarding the mar-shalship and attorney-generalship of that State, and were advised to reconcile their dif-
